The 1989 suvey in Japan was based on the 1989 cati questionnaire, but with large differences

Te Spanish surveys (region Malaga) in 1993 and 1994 were based on a mixture of the 1989 and 1992 questionnaires

USA 1992 was a shorter version of the 1992 cati questionnaire

Minor versions between the 1996 and 1997 Face to Face questionnaires

Switzerland 2000, victimisation items are based on the 2000 cati, but large parts of the P, S and D items are missing

Australia 2000, sexual offences moved to the end of the questionnaire

2.3 Cati and face-to-face questionnaires

The items are grouped by theme, rather than by order in which they appear in the questionnaires. The question numbers indicate the order in which the questions are asked. The basic English version of the questionnaires are available on the internet: <http://www.unicri.it/icvs> *weighing variables.

the data are weighted by gender and age.
The cati surveys also by region within the country.

W000 'household weight (N=ss)'
W00A 'HOUSEHOLD WEIGHT N=2000'

All surveys (except finland '92 and '96) were a random sample of seholds, within each household a random selection of a respondent. This means we have a structural oversampling of individuels living in small households. the following weight variables correct for that. individual weights are about proportional to the household size.

W002 'country weight (N=2000)'

Each nationwide survey is weighted to 2000 cases. The city surveys have no value for this weight. this variable is used to compute averages for global regions, each country carries equal wieght, despite the actual number of inhabitants or size of the sample. It does not correct for the number of surveys held.

W004 'urban (n=ss) urban dwellers only, based on I004'

Urban weight, actual sample size. For two countries (czech republic and slovenia) there was a oversampling of the capital cities, the original number of cases are kept here. For the other weight variables, these additional cases are downweighted. The urban area's are: city surveys plus the large cities (>100.000 inh) from nationwide surveys.

W005 'survey weight (N=ss)' original number of cases, all other (INDIVIDUAL) weighting variables are derived from this.

W007 'city weight (N=1000)' urban dwellers only, based on I004.'

Urban cases, weighted up to 1000 cases. this variable is used to compute averages for global regions, each country carries equal weight, despite the actual number of inhabitants or size of the sample. It does not correct for the number of surveys that were held over the years.
